What do Machonikim do? The Machonikim participate in interactive training sessions focusing on camp leadership skills, child development and behavior management, so that they can become effective camp leaders as counselors and specialists. Included in every Machonik's training are a wide variety of opportunities to learn and grow as cabin counselors or specialists based on the participant's assignment to a specific bunk or specialty. The program is designed so that participants can learn about children, group development, and his/her own strengths/limitations based upon active involvement in a specific cabin group or specialty area.

Every Machonik should understand that, at times, training will be hard work and, like anytime we learn new things or gain new skills, it can be a little bit frustrating. Participants need to understand that they are no longer responsible for just themselves. Machon participants are taking on a much greater responsibility in the camp community.

During the 2nd session, Machonikim will live in bunks with campers in order to ensure a full and meaningful experience for all involved. There will be no guarantee as to which age group a Machonik will be assigned. It is our intention to place Machonikim where we feel they will perform best, however it is our expectation that all participants will perform to the best of their abilities no matter where they are assigned.
